STRATEGY PROFILE

The Sarasin & Partners Alternative Investment Market (AIM) Portfolio Service provides investors with a concentrated portfolio of 20-30 stocks listed on the AIM market. These are companies that are capable of generating sustained long term growth, usually driven by themes identified in our investment process. As with all Sarasin investment products we take an active approach, and ESG considerations are incorporated into fundamental and risk analysis.

All stocks are expected to qualify for Business Relief after being held for two years, and are checked by a third party before initial investment and annually thereafter.

The strategy seeks to generate a net total return in excess of the Benchmark.

KEY RISKS

It is important that investors are aware of the various risks prior to making an investment decision. The primary risks of the AIM Portfolio Service have been outlined below:

- Capital at risk: the value of your investments can go down as well as up, and you may not get back the full amount you invested.
- Market liquidity risk: AIM shares can be less liquid and more volatile than those listed on the main market. This can make them harder to buy or sell at the desired price or time.
- Smaller company risk: many AIM-listed companies are smaller and less mature. They may carry higher business risk, be more sensitive to economic downturns, and have less diversified operations.
- Valuation risk: shares in AIM companies may be more difficult to value accurately due to limited research coverage and market inefficiencies.
- Tax legislation risk: the availability of tax reliefs (such as Business Relief for Inheritance Tax purposes) depends on current legislation and individual circumstances. Tax rules may change in the future, potentially reducing or eliminated the expected benefits.
- Concentration risk: AIM portfolios may be more concentrated in specific sectors individual companies, increasing exposure to adverse events affecting those sectors or companies.
- Business Relief qualification risk: not all AIM shares qualify for Business Relief. There is no guarantee that a company will maintain its qualifying status over time.

The AIM Portfolio Service should be regarded as a higher risk, long-term investment and it may not be suitable for all investors. You should obtain independent professional advice before you ask Sarasin & Partners LLP to manage your AIM Portfolio.

QUARTERLY COMMENTARY

The second quarter produced a very strong rally of c. 12% from the AIM Index after a long period of disappointing performance, the Sarasin AIM portfolio outperformed, returning 12.7% over the same period. As we have commented on a number of occasions, the UK smaller companies' universe has been trading at a significant valuation discount to wider global equity markets, a feature which is now being exploited by a flurry of takeover activity, mostly driven by the private equity world.

A number of companies have contributed to better performance, the most notable being the vet business CVS Group, the defence communications company Solid State, and Everplay, the designer of computer games. CVS Group has been overshadowed for some time by a regulatory enquiry into the whole veterinary sector, which thankfully looks to be coming to a relatively benign conclusion. In addition, Property Franchise Group which we bought last year continues to perform well, driven by ongoing consolidation in the UK estate agency sector.

On the negative side, the digital consultancy group Next15 hampered overall performance after a profits warning. However, the CEO has been replaced which we believe is a positive development, as is private equity interest in some of their assets. This is a very cheap stock trading on c. 6x latest forecast earnings.

We remain optimistic for the future of the AIM portfolio, which contains a well-diversified range of strong and growing companies. We are confident they have robust business models relative to peers, backed by healthy profit margins and cash-rich balance sheets. Furthermore, even after the recent recovery, valuations still look very attractive.
